A BABY REPUBLIC MAKES ITS BOW TO WORLD AT LARGE

Monaco, The Smallest Independent Principality in the World, Declares to Become Free and Independent.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

London, Dec. 10.—The little principality of Monaco, chiefly noted for being the home of Monte Carlo, has been proclaimed a republic by its municipal council, according to an unconfirmed report here today. Monaco embraces just eight square miles.

Monaco is a rocky peninsula and coast strip on the south of Europe, and also miles from Nice. It is an independent principality. In 1861 the communes of Monaco and Roccarbruna were ceded to France by Sardinia, the prince receiving 4,000,000 francs. Monaco is the seat of a Roman Catholic bishop. Originally a possession of the House of Grimaldi of Genoa, Monaco, in 1450, came under Spanish rule, and in 1811 was taken under the protection of France. In 1793 France annexed it but by the treaty of Paris, 1814, it was restored to the Grimaldi and placed under the protection of Sardinia. In 1860 it again passed under the protection of France. The population in 1900 was only 16,180 and the ruler, Prince Albert, who was born in 1848, succeeded his father, Prince Charles III, in 1889. This prince has done much for science in sea-dredging. For the privilege of running the famous Monte Carlo resort this prince receives many millions of dollars divided into yearly tributes.

NEW REVOLUTION IN BRAZILIAN NAVY?

Reported that Mutineers Have Again Seized the Vessels of Republic.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Dec. 10.—Telegrams received today from a private source at Rio Janeiro state that the crews of the Brazilian navy have revolted again.

It was learned that the naval battalion in the barracks at Cobra Island revolted today, but after an exchange of shot with the loyal warships and the harbor batteries they surrendered.

The bombardment of Cobra Island was resumed this afternoon, the rebels not having surrendered.

The island will probably be taken by assault. Cannals among the rebels are said to be very heavy.

PROTEST AGAINST PASTOR'S PAROLE

People of Indiana do not Want Rev. W. E. Hineshaw, Convicted Murderer, Given Any More Respite.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 10.—Few criminal cases in Indiana in recent years have aroused much wider interest throughout the state than that of Rev. William E. Hineshaw, whose application for parole is now under consideration. Today the State board of Parole met at the State prison at Michigan City to hear testimony, and Monday the hearing is expected to be concluded in this city and the decision announced.

While friends of the convicted pastor have been urging his parole on the ground that he is dying of tuberculosis, many persons of prominence have been active in opposing his release from prison. So pronounced has become the public agitation over the matter that Governor Marshall has demanded that the case be given the most thorough investigation before any action is taken on the application for parole.

The crime of which Hineshaw was convicted was the murder of his wife in 1895. His defense at the trial was that she had been killed by burglars. There was no eye witnesses to the murder, but the circumstantial evidence was so strong that the husband was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

After serving about eight years, influential friends succeeded in getting a sixty-day parole for him and later he was given an indefinite parole. He returned to his former home where some two years later public indignation against him was again aroused when he was named as a co-respondent in a divorce suit.

As a result of the scandal Governor Hanly promptly revoked the parole and sent him back to prison for life.

ALLEGED ENGLISH SPIES FACE TRIAL

Capt. Trench and Lieut. Brandon Will Have Hearing at Leipzig the Coming Week.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Leipzig, Dec. 10.—The trial of the two English officers, Captain H. E. Trench and Lieut. V. H. Brandon of the Royal Navy, who were arrested at Borkum as supposed spies, will take place here the coming week. It is expected to be one of the most interesting international trials that has taken place in a long time, but the newspaper statements that the trial is fraught with the gravest possibilities for the peace of Europe are not taken seriously here.

The charge against the two officers is that of trespassing for the purpose of espionage, and attempting to convey military secrets to a foreign power. The trial will not be conducted in secret and the accused will be given fair play in the fullest sense of the term. They will be defended by Dr. von Gordon, a prominent international lawyer of Berlin, and Dr. Hans Otto of this city. Permission will be given the British Government to be represented at the trial, which will take place under the civil law before seven judges. It is the general belief here that if the two officers are convicted the sentence will be light.

NEWS FORECAST FOR FORTHCOMING WEEK

Public Affairs and Problems Will Give Way in Large Measure to Christmas Anticipations.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—The whole field of human activity, except that devoted to business, will begin to slow up during the week, public affairs will be allowed to take care of themselves and public problems, even the high cost of living, will be forgotten for the moment, while the people prepare themselves for the enjoyment of the holiday season.

The proceedings of Congress do not promise much of interest until after the holiday recess. In Canada the parliament will adjourn Wednesday for the holidays and will not reassemble until Jan. 10. In England, however, the progress of the election campaign will make the week one of unusual public interest and excitement.

A distinguished list of speakers headed by President Taft have consented to make addresses at the conference of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, which will assemble in Washington Thursday for a three days' session.

Another notable gathering that Washington will entertain during the week will be the annual convention of the American Civic Association, a national organization devoted to the beautifying of American communities and the preservation of their natural scenery.

Of interest in Catholic church circles will be the consecration of Rev. Maurice P. Foley as bishop of the diocese of Tusconara, Philippine Islands, which is to take place Thursday in the cathedral in St. Augustine, Florida.

FIGHT FOR "LUCKY" BALDWIN MILLIONS

Is Scheduled to Begin in the Superior Court at Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 10.—What promises to be an almost endless litigation for possession of the millions left by Elias J. ("Lucky") Baldwin is scheduled to begin in the superior court here today, when Judge Rives will consider a petition for the distribution of nearly the entire Baldwin estate, amounting to about twelve million dollars.

For many years prior to the death of "Lucky" Baldwin, which occurred at his Santa Anita ranch on March 1, 1909, the public was more or less familiar with his checkered career, but even those persons who shared his confidence most were scarcely prepared for the many sensational chapters which have been inserted in the life story of the famous old bonanza miner and fortune hunter since he passed from earth. If half that is rumored is true, the court proceedings now about to begin will reveal the persistence with which the old millionaire himself hammered the Seventh Commandment, beginning before he left Racine, Wis., where he was born in 1850 for the California goldfields, and continuing up to the very end of his remarkable career nearly sixty years later.

Many years ago a friend of Baldwin's was heard to remark that the millionaire had knocked the Seventh Commandment endwise in nearly every county of the State, and that in nearly every county of the State a divorced wife of a poisoned family was mourning. But later developments would seem to indicate that the old man did not confine his wild out-cry to the fifty-seven counties of California, but extended it to other States as well.

"Lucky" Baldwin's matrimonial ventures were not less sensational than the startling fluctuations of fortune which made his life full of kaleidoscopic changes. It is known that he was married when he started for California, and three times after he got here—after proper intervals succeeding divorce. In addition, he defended four different suits for breach of promise, and paid one judgment of $75,000. His life was twice attempted by women, one of these being Anita Baldwin, later said to be his niece, who wounded him with a pistol-shot in the Baldwin Hotel in 1883. Small wonder, then, that the old millionaire when he saw death approaching, desired it who to add to his will a specific statement denying the existence of more than a single widow, in an effort to provide against possible contest in that direction.

STRIKE ULTIMATUM WILL BE GIVEN TO MANAGERS MONDAY

Officials of Engineer's Brotherhood Will Lay Case Before Railroad Local Men May Go Out.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 10.—The Brotherhood of railroad engineers will present a strike ultimatum to the railroad managers association on Monday, backed by the approval of more than 95 per cent of the engineers who are members.

The strike will probably be felt in this city, as the brotherhood has quite a large membership here and the union officials will probably order a general strike, affecting all western railroads unless their demands are granted by the managers. It is said that fifty-two railroads running into Chicago will practically be tied up if the strike is called. It is doubtful, also, according to local railroad men, if Armon can be used to run the engines in case the companies should demand it, as most of them are affiliated with the railroad men's union.

CLASS HATRED IS TO BE ABOLISHED

In Speeches At Lunch—Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers Decide This Is Proper Course.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Milwaukee, Dec. 10.—Public utterances likely to incite class hatred, which, it is pointed out, have been rife in the present garment workers strike, are deplored by the directors of the Milwaukee and Manufacturers association, and in resolutions prepared at a meeting today, addressed with an open letter to the mayor and the public, they ask that reports of these be stopped "lest they injured the prosperity and stability of the city."

ACCUSED OF TELLING GRAND JURY SECRETS

Charles Dewody Is Named As Tipping Federal Grand Jury Secrets to Interested Parties.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 10.—A leak in the federal grand jury secrets by which they were tipped off to interested parties, was made today by Attorney Brown, counsel for Mrs. Allen Christopher, a witness against the alleged bribe trust. Charles P. Dewody, division superintendent of the department of justice was named by Brown as the alleged tipster. Judge Landis or always on good terms) "Lucky" Baldwin had the good sense to hold on to his fortune and increase it. Many times in the course of his sensational career it was reported that he was broke, and on several occasions these reports were doubtless pretty near the truth. But each time the astute old plunger managed to recoup his losses and he died leaving many millions.

Litigation promises to wipe out the bulk of the Baldwin fortune, the tributing it among many claimants and scattering it over many States, leaving only the great Santa Anita ranch as his only memorial in the State from which he scooped millions in mines and stocks. What he had hoped at one time would stand as an everlasting monument and fame proved scarcely more everlasting than a soap bubble. This was the palatial Baldwin hotel, which he erected on a lot on Market street in San Francisco at a cost of $3,000,000. All the culture and pride that he had were centered in that hotel. A few years later after it was built he saw it go up in smoke, and as he watched the flames wrap themselves around it he wept for the first time to anyone's knowledge.

SEC. DICKINSON WANTS AIRSHIPS

Says the Army Needs Dirigibles and Aeroplanes.

CITES EUROPEAN EXAMPLES

France and Germany Have Made Big Progress in Aerial Work While the United States Has Stood Still.

Washington, Dec. 10.—J. M. Dickinson, secretary of war, in his annual report recommends that the government provide the army with both dirigible airships and with aeroplanes for instruction purposes and for field work. He says in part:
"Aerial navigation is attracting world-wide attention. Marked progress has been made in this art during the past year. Its possible influence upon the art of war is much discussed among military authorities the world over. Recently in Berlin and Paris opportunity was afforded me to witness aviation tests that were being made there by the military, and I was impressed with the interest and activity displayed in the development of this new art with special reference to its possibility for use in the military service."

"Information from abroad indicates that at the present time Germany possesses fourteen military dirigible airships and a number of aeroplanes, and France seven military dirigible airships and thirty aeroplanes."

France Orders Dirigibles.
"Late information received from France indicates that the French government has recently ordered eleven new dirigibles of different dimensions, whose delivery will take place at different times within the next twelve months."

"The following is an extract from a report of an officer of the United States army on the autumn maneuvers of the French army from Sept. 15 to Sept. 18, 1910:
"But the most striking thing was the aeroplanes. The French have made wonderful progress in this respect. I saw Lieutenant Bollenger in his monoplane rise right out of a wheat stubble field. The biplanes and monoplanes were everywhere. They traveled with great speed and must have seen everything except where the troops could be concealed in the woods. An efficient aeroplane corps is certainly indispensable to an army."

"The United States, which was the first nation officially to recognize the aeroplanes for military purposes and which conducted at Fort Myer in 1908 the first public flight of a heavier than air machine, has since that date made no addition to its aeronautical equipment, which at present consists of one small practice dirigible balloon, one Wright aeroplane and three small captive balloons."

"It is contended by some that dirigible balloons and airships will at best prove to be of doubtful utility in warfare. The fact remains that all European first class powers are devoting a great deal of attention to the subject of military aeronautics and are displaying marked activity in the development and supply of both the dirigible and the aeroplane for war purposes, while the United States is practically at a standstill in this matter."

"In my judgment the time has come when it would be wise to make appropriations adequate for providing the signal corps with a reasonable number of the better type of machines for instruction purposes and for field work."

The Panama Canal.
"The total excavation of the Panama canal during the fiscal year amounted to 31,858,122 cubic yards against 27,966,920 cubic yards excavated during the preceding year. Of the amount excavated during the last year 19,903,480 cubic yards were taken out by steam shovels and 11,954,642 cubic yards by dredges against 25,670,705 cubic yards by steam shovels and 15,296,217 cubic yards by dredges respectively in the preceding fiscal year."

Strength of the Army.
"At the date of the last reports received from the military departments (Oct. 15, 1910) the actual strength of the regular army was 4,310 officers and 67,469 enlisted men, a total of 71,779. As compared with the strength reported last year this shows an increase of 101 officers and a decrease of 4,381 enlisted men, making a net decrease of the regular army during the year of 4,280. These figures do not include the 3,480 men of the hospital corps excluded by the act of March 1, 1887, from classification as part of the enlisted force of the army. There were also in the service 166 officers and 5,100 enlisted men of the Philippine scouts."

Enlisted Men.
"The total number of enlistments in the army during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, (exclusive of the hospital corps and the Philippine scouts), was 17,973, of which 7,268 were re-enlistments and 10,705 were original enlistments."

"The death rate from disease is the lowest which has ever occurred in the army."

MEXICAN BUSINESS FOR LOCAL COMPANY

Firm of J. D. and E. G. Owen Have Negotiations With Large Mexican Company for Lightning Rods.

Negotiations are pending between the firm of J. D. and E. G. Owen and a Mexican company relative to supplying the Mexican government with a large supply of lightning rods and fixtures. For the past year the local firm have done considerable business in Mexico and prospects are bright for future sales. Some 20,000 feet of cable and fixtures have been shipped to Mexican points within the last year. The company have had one of their special representatives down in Mexico looking over the ground and the negotiations with the Mexican firm for the government and other parties have been the result. As further aid to their Mexican trade which has been thus auspiciously opened, a large number of circulars explaining the merits of their commodity have been printed in Spanish and sent for distribution in Mexico, with excellent results.

Considering the fact that Mexico is a very backward country and that the people are slow to install modern improvements of any kind, the work of the local company is a very creditable showing. It has been rightly said that Mexico is sixty years behind the times and the political disturbances which that country is periodically subject to makes the introduction of American goods doubly difficult.

LETTERS FOR SANTA CLAUS COMING FAST

Mail Bag at Gazette Office is Filling Rapidly With Missives for Good Old Saint of Christmas.

Santa Claus' mail, consisting of letters written to him in care of the Gazette, is becoming heavier each day, as Christmas approaches and judging from the rate at which the letters are coming in daily and hourly it will be much larger than ever before. Every mail coming into Janesville is bringing the missives and the children of the city and nearby country are, many of them, augmenting the number by posting their letters in Santa Claus' mail bag which hangs inside the Gazette office by the door. Those who have not already written to the dear old saint should do so at once, as all the letters must be placed in the mail bag and sent to his headquarters at the North Pole on Dec. 16 in order that he may have time to read them over carefully before he makes up his pack for his annual trip on Christmas eve. The missives to Saint Nicholas should be written carefully on one side of the paper only, and placed in an envelope addressed to Santa Claus in care of the Gazette. If sent through the mail, a two-cent stamp should be placed on the envelope, but if the letter is placed in the mail bag at the Gazette office no stamp is needed. All arrangements have been made to convey the letters from here to the North Pole. The children should state their wishes and write them so that they can easily read so he can make no mistakes as he will be very busy from now until Christmas time and must hurry in order to attend to the desires of all his little friends.

Women Then and Now.
The "old-fashioned" women certainly knew how to rule, and "advanced" though we be, may do not manage to wield so much power, on the whole, as the clever women of past generations. It must be that our methods are at fault.—Lady's Pictorial.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

The little city of Danville, Illinois, the home of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, was the scene of a recent tragedy. It was a bloodless tragedy, yet none the less tragic because it involved the honor of a man who for a lifetime had enjoyed the love and confidence of his fellowmen. The story is thus told by an exchange in an editorial:

"Hardy H. Whitlock for a score of years has been one of the citizens of Vermillion county most trusted by his fellow citizens. He has held various local offices most of that time, elected to them because of the firm and never wavering confidence felt in his integrity.

"Seven years ago, when sheriff of the county, he showed what one reliable man can do to uphold the majesty of the law and the law-abiding honor of his community. He made the name of Vermillion county known throughout the land for its fearless and faithful sheriff, and he and the county were cited as examples to other sheriffs and other counties of what they ought to be.

"At a time when he happened to be alone, and without warning, a mob attacked the jail with intent to take a prisoner from the custody of the law. Single-handed Hardy Whitlock held off that mob, and afterwards brought to due punishment by the courts twenty-nine of them. He vindicated the power and the majesty of the law as it has seldom been done by one man.

"But on Monday, Hardy H. Whitlock, called upon to account as treasurer of Vermillion county to his successor, had to admit that he could not produce nearly $8,000 of the public funds which had been committed to his charge. There was no possible excuse. The money should have been there; and it was not there.

"Hardy Whitlock and his wife did what they could to make good the wrong. They turned over to the treasurer's bondsmen everything they had, and faced old age with nothing. There will be no loss to Vermillion county, and a possible loss to the bondsmen of only a few hundred dollars.

"Of course it was the old story of ventures that went wrong and of yielding to the temptation to use temporarily—only temporarily, just for a few weeks or months—the trust funds at hand to make them so right. And they didn't go right. That was all.

"There will be no prosecution. Nearly everybody in Danville is too sorry for Hardy Whitlock to wish anything of the kind. There will be no legal brand of disgrace for Hardy Whitlock. Nearly everybody in Vermillion county is glad of that.

"But the pity of it all. And the moral loss of such a fall to the community. Here was a man who was the civic hero of his town, and deserved to be. And he isn't any more. He can't be. And the loss to the community of a shining example is no less than the loss to him.

"The lesson, of course, is the old one that it is never safe for the custodian of trust funds to risk them in any other manner whatsoever than as the law directs. For the day of accounting always comes. And when it comes it may show not only a good man gone wrong, but a community morally and spiritually poorer by his fall."

Had Mr. Whitlock died, with character unscathed, profound sorrow would have found expression in the community where he had so long resided, and his memory would have been cherished, but his downfall has filled the hearts of his friends with grief and disappointment, and the mystery which caused it, is more perplexing than the tragedy of death.

Character and reputation are products of slow growth. Men do not become bad overnight; neither do they become saints in the twinkling of an eye. The man who reforms from drink, carries with him for months the reputation of having been a drunkard, and his character has become so weakened that the power of resistance is not always equal to the strain.

So the man who reforms from a life of sin and dishonesty, and through Divine aid turns about, proposing to lead a new life, is hampered by the reputation of his old life, and soon discovers that character is not born full-blown.

"The man, Whitlock, playing the double role of saint and sinner, emphasized the truthfulness of the familiar saying: 'Reputation is what people think of us, while character is what we are.'

He was dishonest at heart, long before his reputation suffered, and had his speculative ventures been successful, no one but himself and his God would have been the wiser. To his reputation as a hero, would have been added the reputation for thrift and ability as a financier.

Just what sort of a conscience this man had, is difficult to understand. That he had not lost it entirely is evidenced by the fact that he made restitution to the extent of his ability, and made it voluntarily.

When Allen, the Mineral Point banker, went wrong, he had made a football of conscience so long that it had ceased to annoy him and his chief ambition, after taking up his residence at Leavenworth, was to preach to the benighted convicts about him.

The popular definition of conscience is, that it is the silent voice within us which tells us what is right, but in the light of experiences under discussion, this does not seem to be its mission.

The man Whitlock had some compunctions of conscience, when he was brought face to face with his undoing, but not so the man Allen. The latter, through some subtle course of reasoning, had pursued the wrong so long that it seemed right.

The more modern, and the more intelligent analysis of conscience is, that it is the voice which always tells us to do right, but what the right is, is determined by judgment, influenced by education and environment.

The German boy drinks beer at his father's table, or with the family at the beer garden, with no thought of wrong doing, while the American boy, from a prohibition home, would commit an unpardonable sin, by following his example.

The accepted belief of all Christians is that every soul which is launched into being, with normal mind, is endowed with a conscience, but the workings of this mysterious faculty, like the tariff, is largely a local issue.

The short code of criminal law is generally recognized as the standard of right and wrong in all civilized countries, so far as crime is concerned, but the longer code of moral law, both written and unwritten, has no standard of interpretation.

One man drinks, and another abstains. One family attends church, and another converts the day of rest into a holiday, and so, all through the long list of individual conduct, education and environments stimulate action.

In the broader realm of social and civic life the same conditions prevail, and the public conscience approves or condemns, according to the standard established.

The city of Des Moines, Iowa grants

one saloon license to every 1,000 inhabitants, and enforces most stringent regulations, while the city of Janesville grants the same concession for every 250 people and votes for a wide open town.

The saloon is not the offender because it has lack of public approval and popular endorsement, and until teachers and preachers recognize this fact and attack the root of the evil, there will be no change in conditions.

Colonel Roosevelt may have made some mistakes, but history will record him as the man who elevated the standard of business morality, and placed the nation on a higher plane.

Many things which seemed right and were approved by conscience, because of long continued custom, were found to be wrong, when brought to light and held up for inspection, through his vigorous methods.

The temptation which came to the man Whitlock is common to every man who becomes the custodian of trust funds. It leads to graft and waste in public life, and to ruin in private life, when it gains the mastery. Downright honesty is a jewel of rare value not always appreciated.

THE GARDENER'S FLOWER.

You would scarcely suppose, would you, that plants and flowers are sensitive to human affection or hatred?

Or that metals may be poisoned and restored by antidotes? Or that metals may be overworked and restored by periods of rest?

Recent experiments have shown that certain flowers are extremely sensitive to words of praise or of blame long continued.

This flowers will expand in beauty and sweetness under kind and affectionate treatment. But if they are dispraised or sneered at or abused in speech they will languish and die as if of a broken heart.

Human influence!

What a mystery is in it! The mysterious thing we call magnetism affects the sensitive flower even as it does the human. Things both organic and inorganic are subject to human influence.

If so, my friend—

If so, should not a realization of the fact make us wondrous kind to all persons and all things?

And, if one ought to be careful of his moods toward the little plant of the woods that it may blossom into beauty and fragrance, how much more careful one should be toward the tender little human plant that it may bloom into fragrant and beautiful life!

For is not a little child of more precious worth than many flowers?

The Head Gardener gives you the tender human plant and expects that you will love it and shield it. And he has so made the tiny plant that affection will open its petals to the warmth of your love and it will bend gratefully and graciously toward you.

But—

If you neglect it or chide it continually or put it in a noisome place it will droop and wither and languish. And may it not be that because the little human plant is so tender and so dependent and so subservient to you, influence the Master said you would better put a millstone around your neck than offend one of these little ones?

Soul of man! Be careful, be very careful, how you treat a little human flower.

It is the Head Gardener's flower! Be careful lest he hold you guilty of blighting one of his favorite plants.

Get the habit of reading advertisements—it pays.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Its superiority is unquestioned
Its fame world-wide
Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food

The low-grade powders are made from "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

One pound of the imitation (25c.) powders contains five ounces of alum, a mineral poison.

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged.

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. The careful housewife when buying baking powder, will examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows the powder to be made from cream of tartar.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

The beefy sports of Europe are coming to these shores, and soon their loud klondikes will fill all out of doors. All through the long, long winter they'll blind and make the sporting writers roll up their sleeves and yell. With deli and challenge they'll all the public prints, they'll dink up threats, convulsions and most blood-thirsty hints. They'll thunder and they'll chortle, they'll bellow and de-claim, and they may do it safely, for Gutch has quit the game. O Gutch! The cornfield called him, and so he quit the mat, to feed his Poland Chinas and watch them pile on fat; and while he gathers henfruit and plants the mellow spud, a lot of foreign "lions" are clamoring for blood. A lot of brawny horrors are telling what they'll do to this or that terror when he comes into view; and so they mail the roubles and burnish up their fumes, and nothing can prevent them, for Gutch has quit the game. And when the foreign wrestlers become too great a bore, it may be Gutch will offer to chase them from this shore. Forgetting James J. Jeffries and all that Reno dope, the husky Humboldt farmer will come forth as a hope—but let us draw a curtain upon this mournful theme; the beefy sports of Europe are coming in a stream. The rabble rout like lions, and oh, it seems a shame, to earnest, soulful people, that Gutch has quit the game!

Stones which are used by the lithographers all over the world in making colored pictures are found in a little district not more than four or five miles long by two or three broad near Nuremberg, in Germany. Quarrying has gone on there for more than a century.

He Didn't Have It.

Miss Merrill, a teacher in a grade school, had trouble with Johnnie last week. Johnnie had trouble doing his work and the authority finally discovered that his sight was defective. Miss Merrill told Johnnie and sent him home with a note to his mother. He gazed at the note in horror then at the teacher and burst into tears. The note read:

"Johnnie has astigmatism, do not let him return to school until he has been attended to."

Miss Merrill understood his grief better when she received a note from his mother. She read, "I don't know what he done, but I liked him for it. I can't find it on him, and he says he ain't got it, now you better lick him, and see if you can find it."

Highway Humor.

In a little commune in Brabant is to be seen a big notice board at the entrance of the town. On it appears the following notice to automobilists: "100 kilometers an hour." When we know that 100 kilometers equals 70 miles it scarcely need be added that the wit of the commune has added a touch to the notice. At Dinant a board is to be seen on a good level road recommending motorists the "allure d'un petit cheval ordinaire au petit trot." But the palm for original notices, we learn, belongs to a little English town. On the board one reads: "Please drive slowly." In a hundred yards further on is another board, bearing the words, "Thank you." At the French Journal from which we take our story observes, it is an exquisite example of politeness.—London Globe.

In a dainty Gift Box—What better Gift?

What more suitable than a handsome, cleanly, efficient Parker Fountain Pen, to be the intimate companion of the father, mother, brother, sister, sweetheart or friend who gets it for Christmas? If the Parker pen isn't all I recommend, the dealer will refund your money. If the fountain is broken by accident within one year I will repair or replace it at no cost.

GEO. S. PARKER.

Cleanly Because of the Lucky Curve

There are only two kinds of fountain pens, the common straight ink feed type, and the Parker with the curved ink feed—the Lucky Curve. Straight ink feeds hold ink when you stop writing, until air expands in the reservoir by the heat of the body forces it into the cap, when you find it ready to soil fingers and then when you remove the cap to write, but the curved ink feed of the Parker—the Lucky Curve—is self-draining. No ink in the feed, none can be forced into the cap—and this is the patented feature that makes the Parker cleanly and serviceable for a lifetime.

Emblem Pens—Solid gold bands and emblems of fraternal orders, K. of P., K. of C., I. O. O. F., Elks, etc.

GEORGE BENNETT ADJUDGED INSANE

Beloit Youth Who Overpowered Father and Ran Away With Team Sent To Asylum Today.

George Bennett of Beloit, who, while mentally irresponsible yesterday morning, overpowered his father, Dr. L. F. Bennett, and got away with a team of valuable horses belonging to the latter with the avowed intention of selling them to the first buyer, was located in Rockford last evening. Father and son came to Janesville, spent the night at the Grand hotel. This morning Judge Scales appointed Dr. S. B. Buckmaster and George Bennett to inquire into the boy's sanity. They found him to be insane and he was taken to Mendota this noon by Sheriff Schellert. The case is a very odd one. Young Bennett suffered a mental breakdown from overstudy while attending the University of Wisconsin and never fully recovered from it. A brother is attending the University at the present time and is scheduled to play on the varsity team in a big basketball contest tonight. Bennett had not sold the horses when his father located him in Rockford.

DEFENDANT CLAIMS MARRIAGE WAS VOID

Divorce Action Of Sophia F. Davy vs. George S. Davy Will Come Before Judge Gleason On Monday.

Some interesting developments are expected when the divorce action of Sophia F. Davy vs. George S. Davy, telegraph operator at the St. Paul depot, comes up for hearing before Judge Grimm Monday afternoon. The plaintiff, through her attorney, H. L. Maxwell, asserts that the marriage ceremony was performed on June 14 last; that the defendant was guilty of several varieties of cruel and inhuman treatment and he deserted her on July 1; and that she has since that time been without support on his part.

The defendant answers to the complaint, filed by his attorney, Ray W. Clarke, contains a cross bill to the effect that the said marriage on June 14 to which he was a party in good faith was absolutely void for the reason that at the time the plaintiff and this action had a former husband living to wit one Ely J. Bolton, to whom she had been married on or about Nov. 14, 1905, and from whom she had never been divorced. He who had never been divorced and she therefore asks that the prayer of the plaintiff for divorce and such other relief as the court may see fit to grant be denied, but that the court annul the marriage and render judgment for costs and disbursements in favor of the defendant.

To Appeal Decision. It is reported here today the bondholders of the Appleton Water Works company will appeal from the recent order of the state railway commission, fixing the valuation of the property at $255,000. The bondholders claim this valuation is far too low as they have furnished bonds of $350,000 and have outstanding $100,000 worth of stock. It is declared the matter may be carried to the Federal Supreme Court. The city of Appleton would buy the property and asked the commission for a fixed valuation.

Possible Appointees. The state civil service commission announced today it will have the list of eligible persons for legislative appointments ready for announcement in ten days. There are eighty positions to be filled ranging from salaries of $2 to $6 a day. Several hundred applicants took the state-wide examinations several days ago.

BELOIT HAS CHOSEN THE NEGATIVE SIDE

Janesville Debaters Must Defend the Commission Form of Government Against Beloit.

High school debaters have chosen the negative side of the question selected by the various schools included in the Beloit College debating league for their debate with Janesville. This means that the Janesville debaters must defend the commission form of city government and argue for its establishment in the cities of Wisconsin and Illinois between four and two hundred thousand inhabitants. The contest with Beloit is scheduled for January 20th and Janesville contestants will center their efforts at once on defeating the delegation from the Line City. Preliminaries at the high school for the selection of the team will be held next Monday afternoon. The question reads as follows: "Resolved, that the commission form of government be adopted in the cities of Wisconsin and Illinois of between 4,000 and 200,000 population."

WRITES HIS VIEWS OF LIFE IN ARMY

Martin Bumgarner, Rock County Boy Stationed in Philippines, Tells of Work With Engineering Corps.

An interesting view of the life of Uncle Sam's soldier boys in the Philippines is presented in a letter to Wallace Bumgarner of the town of Rock from his son, Martin Bumgarner, a Rock county young man, is the writer, and his account of army life is of interest not only to his many friends, but to others as well. Bumgarner enlisted in the army service in the engineering corps February 12, 1910. He was stationed for a time at the Jefferson Barracks at St. Louis and then was sent to the island possessions of the government. The letter was written from the place Bumgarner was stationed at near Manila.

MARTIN BUMGARNER.

The letter follows in part: "I haven't received a letter from anyone since I left the states which was about the middle of July. The first of next month we are going out into the 'hondocks' into the wild openings, to do surveying. We will go over the islands and mountains and won't get back until the month of July and then we are off for the states to Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

"It is very hot here in the daytime but the nights are cool and we find it comfortable to sleep under heavy blankets. The latter part of last week I went to Manila with a friend and stayed until Sunday. When we go to town we have to take a car, that is a two-wheeled, top buggy affair which is drawn by a pony, and go about three miles to a small station called Dacor and then we take a train which is about one half as large as the ones in the states. We go for about seven miles to a station called Peco, where we take an electric car direct into Manila.

"At present we are doing surveying exercises. We carry a small board about a foot square with a sheet of paper on it, and with pencil and compass we make maps seeing how much ground we can cover in the time we are on duty. There are two of us who go together, one making the map and the other doing the surveying. We are supposed to learn the signs and all the line points of the operation in preparation for our trip over the mountains.

"I am getting as brown as a Philippine and am sure that the country agrees with me. I hope you will remember to write to me soon. Yours, etc."

JAPS INTERESTED IN MONITOR AUTOS

Representative of a Large Importing Firm Inspected Local Company's Plant Wednesday.

That the products of the Monitor auto factory are attracting world-wide attention is evidenced by the fact that a Japanese representative of a large importing company with offices in Chicago, was here on Wednesday of this week and inspected the Monitor plant and was taken out in the cars for demonstration runs. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the Monitor car saying that it showed up well in comparison with the other cars of the kind in the market both as to construction and price. He practically assured the officers of the local company that a large order of Monitor cars would be forthcoming as soon as he could communicate with the home office and receive instructions from them.

This Japanese gentleman first became interested in the Monitor machine last October at the exhibition in Chicago when he examined the models there very carefully and was so favorably impressed that his inspection trip of this week was the result. One of the cars which was especially examined with view to purchase was the new bus model which has been recently planned and constructed. Other cars of the delivery wagon type were also inspected and a number of these will also doubtless be ordered. Japan offers an entirely new field for the automobile business, especially in the case of the auto truck, and that these progressive people have been attracted by the excellencies of the Monitor car, shows the wide recognition which the company's product is receiving.

Police Called to Home on River Street Last Night to Stop Three-cornered Fight.

Charles Thornton returned to his home on River street last evening in an intoxicated condition, so it is alleged, and started to strike his wife, his father, Will Thornton, who works in the coal-sheds, interfered and got banged up about the left eye. According to his account the son clutched his neck and tried to choke him. Whereupon Thornton, "perc," according to his own version of the encounter, proceeded to knock Thornton, "diss," down and out. There were imprecations and screaming which disturbed the whole neighborhood and the police were called in to put down the riot. For some reason or other the night men who responded to the call made no arrests. William Thornton was looking for Poor Commissioner Asa Anderson this morning. He says he will support his son and the latter's wife no longer but hopes that it will not be necessary for them to be thrown out on the street to starve.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

PHOTOGRAPHING THE ERUPTION OF MT. ETNA.

In a welcome return to the Myers Theatre Tuesday, December 27, matinee and evening, Lyman H. Howe may be depended on to take his legion of travelers again among strange people in foreign lands and to show things as they are in this wide world of ours. In his new "Itinerary," Mr. Howe gets closer than ever to nature, events and phenomena. But "danger" or "impossible" are two words that are not in the Howe vocabulary nor in that of any of his photographers. This is demonstrated in one of the features of the new program showing the recent eruption of Mt. Etna. The camera-squad can be seen tolling across lava beds still spouting jets of steam while above them towers the crater emitting huge clouds of smoke and volcanic missiles. The edge of the crater is at last reached and then the danger is intensified as the pictures are taken on the very brink of a fiery stream of molten lava. It is all so spectacular that the audience wonders how the photographer could ever escape without injury. For the audience, it affords an altogether new experience. Of course, Mr. Howe's pictures are always deeply interesting—always impressive—always instructive, and all this is very true of a richly colored reproduction of a typical celebration by joyous Japanese. All the fantastic features of the "little people" are shown with amazing fidelity as the vast procession moves across the screen.

Other big features of the new program consist of an elaborate reproduction of King Edward's funeral showing the splendid pageant, the impressive scenes at Windsor, and close facial portraits of the world rulers in attendance, and our special ambassador, Col. Roosevelt; strenuous Italian artillery maneuvers; the floods of Norway; an almost human truck laying machine; the cinematograph; a ride up the Eiffel Tower; and numerous others including many of a humorous nature.

"A WINNING MISS."

—Synopsis of the play.—"A Winning Miss," the real musical comedy, has a real story which in brief is as follows:—Winnie Waters has two admirers, John Speed, an amateur artist, and Billy Brown, a happy-go-lucky college chap who has been fired from college. The rivals discover that Winnie has a fad for yachting, and both decide to enter the yacht race for the thousand dollar prize as well as Winnie's hand, which she has promised to the one who wins.

It happens that neither can sail a boat so have to employ skippers. Speed induced Capt. Phil, an old sea captain to sail his boat, and as Billy is broke and can't make a touch anywhere, is in a quandary for a skipper. When upon the scene enters J. Harrington Ham. Ham is a bona actor, who has passed himself off as a detective to find some missing persons at the club and when he finds Billy needs a skipper, he essays to do that also. An untold story, a country girl, who is in love with Ham, becomes piqued at him and in a jealous moment tells Winnie that Ham never saw a yacht.

Now Winnie really wants Billy to win, realizing that Ham can't win the race, pays Ham to let her sail the boat in his place and no one will know the difference.

The "Wolf," Billy's boat, wins, but Speed claims a foul and an inquiry meeting is held and Billy is allowed half an hour to produce the real skipper, as Ham has to acknowledge he didn't sail the boat. Ham can't tell who called it for fear of losing his fee, and at the end of the allotted time it looks blue for Billy; when Winnie rushes in and says she sailed the boat, and there was no foul at all. "Do you dispute that Mr. Speed?" she says whereupon Speed replies: "I never dispute a lady's word." "Why did you sail the boat?" Billy asks her. "Because I wanted you to win, Billy." And Billy wins "A Winning Miss."

"A Winning Miss" will be seen at Myers Theatre, Tuesday December 13, presented by a most excellent company and a beautiful production.

SOME WORTH WHILE GIFT TIPS.

An Apron Set That Will Delight the Needleworker -- Raffia Work Always Acceptable.

Here is a set which will delight the heart of the needle worker and the eyes of her less energetic friends. One often bestows a working on one busy cousin, and perhaps an apron fails to the lot of another. But the latest idea is to give a working set.

The set is of the finest mull, with a touch of pale blue on the apron and the same in the silk lining hints of the possibility of using any favorite shade for your friend.

The main part of the apron is rounded. A double plaiting of lace edged point d'esprit gives a fluffy outline. Just at the line of attachment bottom

APRON OF POINT D'ESPRIT.

brail is used to define the edge, and this was so gently that the maker over in Paris applied a second row, quite close to the edge.

The casing is similarly edged with the brail. Blue ribbons are used for drawing strings, carrying out the color scheme of the bag.

Flowers form a wreath on each side, and the center of each circle is point d'esprit. Just to carry out the idea of the ruffle. The remaining portion of the design is worked in solid and outline stitch. It is the prettiest apron that you can imagine.

Round Bag to Match Apron.

The round, full bag is not unusual. The stiff bottom may be any shape, and there must be a lining of soft silk to match the apron strings. The same design should be embroidered on the white sides before sewing to the bottom.

Cut the top full in petal form and hem. Use the lionet braid and edge with lace. Silk ribbon is again appropriate for the double drawing strings. This handmade set may be had for $25 or for a comparatively small expenditure of time and money. Which are you going to use when you make this attractive set for your dear friend?

Gifts of Raffia.

A pretty Christmas gift which a local artist has made for a friend this season has a miniature jar for foundation. Around the jar raffia is tightly woven in a good pattern. Above the neck of the jar the shape flares out somewhat, and interwoven in the raffia is a slight pattern of red. The jar is filled with earth in which an ivy plant is growing.

Another woven gift is a holder for an inkwell on the pyramid order. The bottom of the raffia receptacle is woven separately, and the well is slipped into this and the flat, rounded piece securely tied to the other section. A woven top fits over the well when it is not in use.

A Linen Shopping Bag.

It is not at all out of the way to embroider a white linen shopping bag as a Christmas gift, even though the time for the white linen suit will have passed.

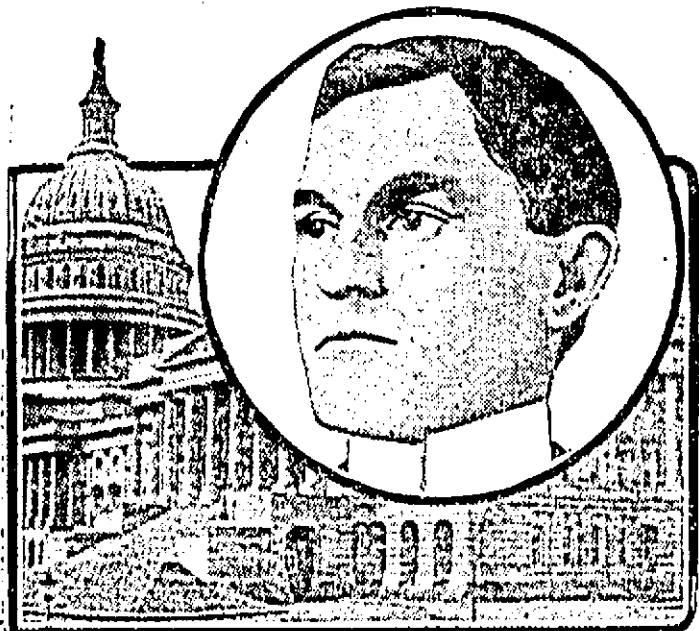

White linen will come back to us, as it always does, and the grateful recipient of the bag for next year will be in partial readiness for a coming season. This is never objectionable and is to the prevalent far more comfortable than the fleeting joy of the momentary gift.

Hot-Water Bags.

Do not throw your worn-out hot-water bag away, but cut it in round or oval pieces and use them as mats to put under flower pots.

HE NEVER DONE THAT BEFORE.

WOULD OUST POWERS.

Caleb Powers, representative of the Eleventh Kentucky district, Louisville, Ky.—A concerted action on the part of nine Democratic congressmen of Kentucky to have Caleb Powers ousted from his seat in the Congress on the ground that he was thrice convicted of a felony and has not been acquitted by a jury, has again brought up the long-standing Kentucky feud. The case will be watched with much interest over the entire country.

Potatoes.

Carlyle once told a man who was financially interested in gold mining that all the gold ever produced by California was not worth one good mealy potato. And yet the potato in Scotland has a history of less than 200 years. When Macdonald of Clanranald in 1743 brought seed potatoes for his tenants in South Ulster they objected to planting them because the potato is not mentioned in the Bible! Somewhat later George Bachop, one of the Ochterloryn tenants, when told by his wife that she had potatoes for supper, contemptuously replied: "Tattlet! tattlet! I never suppit on them a' my days, and wipna the night. Gie them to the herd, and get me cowans."

Cause for Anger.

Because a neighbor lured away his excellent cook a Jersey man is building a split fence between his house and that of his fortunate rival. Probably he doesn't want to see how happy the other fellow is.

"Hangar."

It was to be expected that the advent of the aeroplane would add a number of new words to the language, or at least cause several foreign words to be adopted by the English-speaking race. Both have happened. Probably the one "foreign" word which one encounters most frequently in reading of the aviation contests is "hangar." It is a French word and means shed—and it is no better word than "shed," either. It wouldn't sound well to some people to read where the Wrights wheeled their aeroplane to the shed—not half so well as to state that they placed their machine in the hangar, but it is the same thing, and we are not certain but the good old English word "shed" has some advantage over the French word. It is shorter and more easily written and, while the word "hangar" is not so hard to speak or pronounce as "garage"—which came into use with the automobile—just as many records would have been broken if we had stuck to our own language and talked about the aeroplane shed.

Egypt's Lost Art Discovered.

Embalming that will maintain the human body a hundred ages—the lost art of Egypt—is said to have been discovered by Homer J. Parr, a graduate of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Pittsburgh. Parr has been experimenting on rodents, and has a number of mummy rats which he uses as paper weights on his desk, and one large one which he uses for a door-check. He claims that a body properly protected can be rendered immune to the disintegrating influence of time and would carry thousands of years into the future its beauty of today.

CHRISTMAS HAS COME ONCE MORE

"IT IS MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN RECEIVE."

VAGABOND'S SUGGESTIONS

Talks Of Waifs, Schools and the Janesville Fire Police in Interesting Manner.

To the Editor:
Winter is with us, that is the cold weather has arrived, and the snow,
the beautiful white blanket that covers a multitude of evils from the unsightly ash heap to the dirty streets,
is promised in quantities in the immediate future. Christmas is near at hand and the thought comes to me that each person should have the Christmas spirit following the old teaching, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

In this connection it occurs to me that the Salvation Army is trying to do a great work among the poor of the city and that Captain and Mrs. Fleming might be suitable persons to aid in this labor of love in making many a home happy Christmas day that might otherwise be sad and lonely.
The Good Follow Idea that exists in Chicago can be worked on a small scale in Janesville. There is perhaps not so much need and want here
as in Chicago but "the poor are always with us." Think this over and in making out your list of Christmas gifts either arrange for some one family yourself or plan to give something to some charitable society that will properly distribute it.

Talking of snow brings out another problem—the waifs. In past winters many property owners have neglected to keep them clean. It is not only inconvenient to pedestrians, but also dangerous to the health of the entire community. Waifs should be cleaned and kept clean, no matter how much snow falls. It is the duty of every property owner to see that this is done promptly. Women walking through deep snow, going to and from work, or shopping, children going to school with wet feet, to sit all day in a hot room, all have their health endangered by these careless householders and their neglect of comfort
of the general public.

I see by the papers that the common council has purchased an auto
fire truck to be equipped with chemicals, for the fire department, more obviously for the use of the Chief of the department in his business about the city and to increase the efficiency of the department. This looks to be a move in the right direction. It was feared when first discussed that it would mean the death knell of the old time Fire Police that the city has been so justly proud of for over a half a century. However it now seems that this was unfounded and that it merely increases the efficiency of the department by added equipment.

There are many perhaps in the city today, who do not know the history of this Fire Police and it might not be out of place just at the present time to give a brief history of their organization. It is one of the most notable of its kind in the state and one of the few remaining volunteer company's associated with fire departments in the country. Its work in the past weeks for itself and to lose the service of its members would be deplored by business men throughout the city.

The Janesville Fire Police were first organized on March 17, 1855, as Sack Company No. 1, and the original company was composed of twenty members, composed principally of the business and professional men of the city. Its duties were then as now to take charge of property at fires, guard buildings, and general police duties at such times. The members were put under the control of the chief engineer as a part of the Fire Department, were sworn in as special police officers and possessed police powers.
The original number of twenty was maintained until 1889, when it was reorganized under the name of the "Janesville Fire Police," and an outfit consisting of a wagon, horses and other necessary paraphernalia was purchased for the equipment of a first class fire patrol wagon.

For many years one of the features of the service of the fire police was its ambulance duty, the patrol wagon
being tendered to the city for use as an ambulance wagon. It was fitted out with stretchers, blankets, bandages and other things necessary for injuries and answered hundreds of calls, carrying injured persons to their homes or to the hospital. A few years ago this work was abandoned by the fire police when the Russell ambulance was put in service.

Perhaps this is out of place, but the question has been asked many times in the past week and perhaps may be asked. Recently a gentleman with trained dog gave exhibitions in the different schools of the city showing the wonderful training of his pet. The dog it is said did almost everything but speak. The children were asked to bring five cents each so they could enjoy the sight. This is all right but who had the authority to grant this gentleman the right to levy a tribute
on the school children and use the school buildings and school hours for his paid entertainment?

It has been suggested that if this is customary a man with a trained cat or a wonderful singing canary might find ready money by exhibiting them at five cents per head in the public schools. Doubtless the children learned many things from the wonderful dog, but the idea that the parents must pay the extra five cents per privilege for such teaching bears investigation.

Speaking of the schools I submit the following clipping from a Chicago
paper of recent date without comment.

Monmouth, Mich.—A fire started in the school of the Church of Epiphany which 200 students were at their desks. The fire drill signal sounded and the children marched out
in an orderly manner.

Rights of property owners must be observed. There is a saying that every man's home is his castle and if this be true how can any grasping corporation plant a telephone, telegraph or electric light pole in your back yard and laugh at you when you object. What law gives them such rights? What common sense permits it without protest? This is the day and age of progress, but it is not the day and age of convention of individual rights. Think it over fellow citizens.

REFUND RECEIVED BY MONROE REPUBLICANS

Unexpended Portion Of the Republican Campaign Fund Is Divided Among Green County
Candidates.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., Dec. 10.—Candidates on the republican ticket in the recent campaign have received a refund to the amount of their share in the unexpended portion of the campaign fund from the republican county committee. The refund created general surprise. Each member was also presented with a statement of the receipts and disbursements.
After all expenses had been met,
amounting to $120.80, there was a balance of $308.00 left in the treasury. The original amount contributed was $165.00 the sum of $27.50 was retained to pay a few minor bills that had not been paid, and the balance divided among the candidates, amounting to two-thirds of the contribution.
The refund is the first known to local politicians. Two years ago and four years, the committee made no report either to the candidates or to the state.

Mrs. Peter Gnagl,
Mrs. Peter Gnagl, a resident of this city for many years, died at her home here of general debility after a long-suffering illness of over two years. She was eighty years old and a native of New York state. She was married in 1858 to Peter Gnagl of this city. Mr.
Gnagl passing away two years ago.
An adopted son, Dr. W. H. Gnagl, of this city, is the only surviving member of the family.

Student Reunion.
The Monroe Business Institute is making elaborate plans for a homecoming of its former pupils and graduates to be held here on January 2.
The commencement exercises were dispensed with in June and instead the reunion of the old pupils will be held. A number of invitations sent out by the faculty have been responding to.

not guilty to a charge of chicken
stealing before Justice W. T. Saucereman here, and had his examination
set for next Wednesday.

Schumann Known in Monroe.
The news of the death of John W.
Schumann, prominent business man in Milwaukee, recalls his visit to Monroe in 1905 following the death of John M. Kuhl, who committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. Kuhl had married a sister of Schumann after a correspondence courtship. They were married but a short time when trouble began. Officers were called in and while waiting for Kuhl to return from a bedroom where he was dressing to be taken to jail, he took carbolic acid and died. Mr. Schumann was at the time connected with the Milwaukee Journal and was greatly humiliated over the affair. He paid the expenses of burial and took his sister back with him to Milwaukee.

PIONEER OF ROCK COUNTY IS DEAD

Mrs. Peter Keithline, Resident Of Newark Sixty Four Years, Passed Away Yesterday Morning.
Mrs. Peter Keithline, a pioneer resident of Rock County, died early yesterday morning at her home in the town of Newark. She was eighty-six years of age. Her death was due to the infirmities of advanced age and from the effects of injuries from which she never fully recovered when her leg was broken two years ago.
Mrs. Keithline was a representative of the pioneer type which built up the great west. She came west with her husband from Pennsylvania sixty-
four years ago, and with the exception of two years, had resided on the same farm. She was a woman respected and honored in the community and many friends grieve at her loss. Three sons and one daughter survive her.
They are: Miles, Giles, and Alva Keithline, and Mrs. H. A. Fisher. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon
at two o'clock from the home, Rev.
Hugh L. Moore of Deloit, pastor of

ing. Interment will be made in the

GOVERNOR DAVIDSON PRAISES THE WORK

Hopes Wisconsin Will Keep Position
at Top in Christmas Seal Campaign.

Governor James O. Davidson in a letter to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, takes occasion to praise the society for its work during the past year and urges all citizens to buy Red Cross Christmas seals, by which means the crusade against consumption is financed.

"I cheerfully commend the work done by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association during the past year," says Gov. Davidson. "This good work in the interest of humanity is in charge of men of the highest degree
of efficiency, interested heart and soul
in the movement."

"I hope that the sale of Christmas seals this year in Wisconsin may keep our state at the head of the list, where we now stand."

At this time more than 500 local campaign managers are co-operating with the state society in an attempt to keep Wisconsin at the head of the list. To accomplish this, the mark set in last year's campaign, 2,500,000, must be doubled. Failure would mean regression.

A number of large manufacturing and industrial concerns of Wisconsin have purchased large quantities of seals and every letter, statement, bill or receipt issued from their offices is carrying a Red Cross Christmas seal.
The manufacturers realize the necessity of assisting a movement in the interest of their employees and themselves and find the Christmas seal an ideal method of making contributions,
at the same time getting full value
for their money in neat and handsome holiday greeting stickers which have supplanted the expensive Christmas or New Year's cards formerly enclosed in mail.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE ABOUT COMPLETED

New Appliances at Baker Mfg. Co. in Evanston Will Be Ready for Use Soon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evanston, Wis., Dec. 10.—Indicative of prosperity brought about by careful and businesslike methods, are the new improvements which the Baker Manufacturing company of this city are making on their present plant.

The new power house is completed and the new Corliss engine furnishing from three hundred to four hundred horsepower is now being installed.
This will be run by steam from two boilers of one hundred and fifty horsepower each, which will also furnish heat for the entire plant. Electric power and lighting facilities will be afforded by the new two hundred kilowatt
dynamo which has been purchased.

Fire protection is provided for in the tank erected on the new building and the new fire pump. The tank has a capacity of five hundred barrels and is for emergency use in case of fire.
The structure, however, is fireproof,
and it is hardly probable that the supplies in the tank will be drawn upon.
Throughout the buildings there is an automatic sprinkler system. Force for throwing the water will be furnished by a fire pump, recently added,
which has a capacity of seven hundred and fifty gallons per minute. If emergency should require it, water can be drawn from the city main. An arrangement has been made, also,
whereby the fire pump may serve as an auxiliary to the city system in forcing the water through the mains,
the arrangement being for mutual benefit.

The Baker Mfg. Co.'s goods find markets in all quarters of the globe, and thus our prosperous little city is introduced to the attention of foreigners the wide world over, as a wide awake center for manufactured articles of the highest type of their class.

As He Sees Them.

"The color of a woman's eyes depends entirely on the man who looks at them." "Joanna and His Love-
ence," by Max Baring.

Don't Buy Land at $100 Per Acre in Rock County When You Can Buy
Better Land at $32 to $40
Per Acre in Minnesota

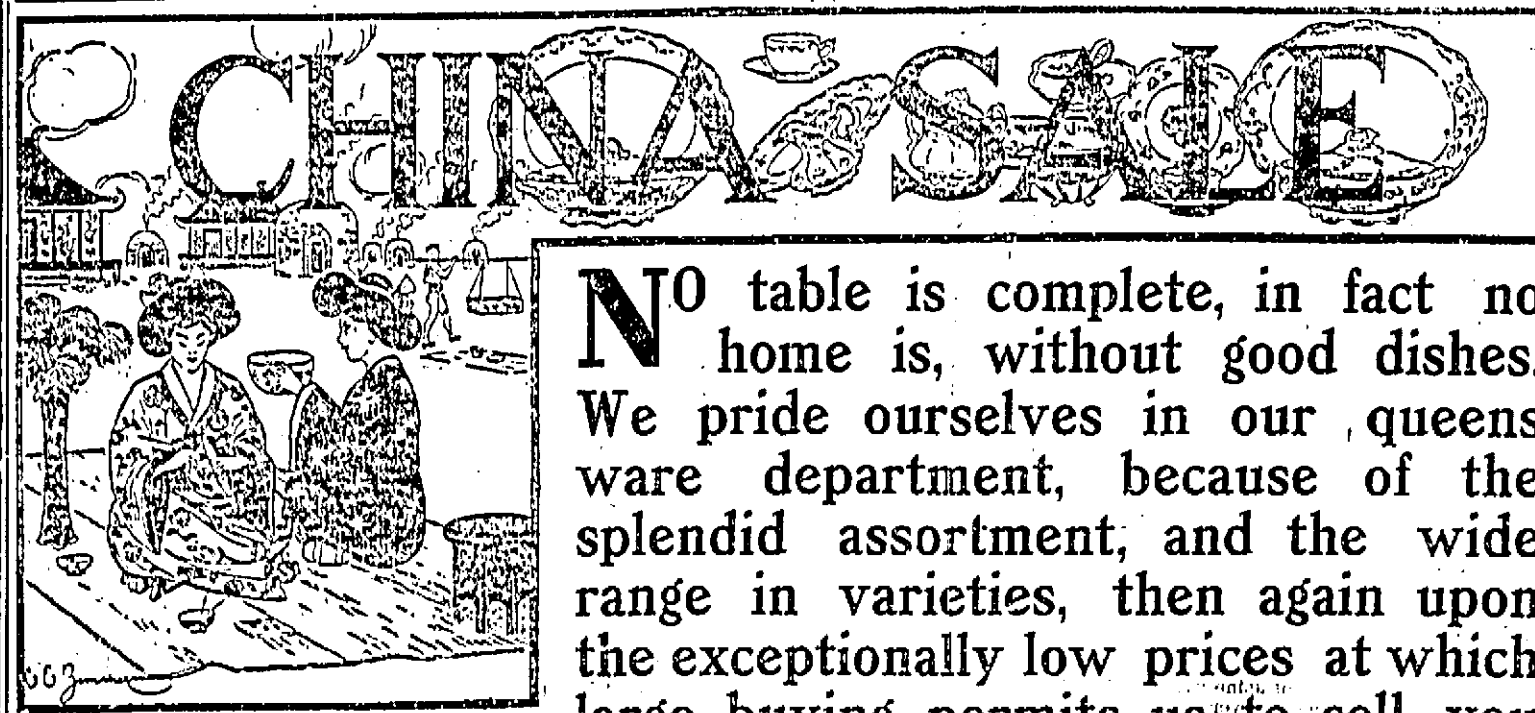

There is no misrepresentation here. Every statement will be substantiated by a visit to this land. Call and talk it over. I will tell you all about the land as I have just returned from a trip of personal inspection. If you will take this trip and you do not find the land exactly as I represent it, your railroad fare both ways will be refunded.

This land is in Polk County, Minnesota, in the Red River Valley, one of the richest sections in the Northwest. The soil is virgin and is better soil than Rock County soil. All the improvements, such as rural routes, schools, roads and other buildings, are in. The houses, barns and other buildings are as good as Rock County buildings. There is an abundant rainfall, so much so that the state and county have put in a complete drainage ditch system. Some of the best Rock county farmers who have visited this land have already purchased land here. We will give you reference.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WHO is the hardest person on your Christmas list to fit with a suitable Christmas gift?

Some men, I haven't the vaguest shadow of a doubt.

I have often wondered why it is so much harder to select a gift that will really please, for a man than for a woman.

Is it that men are more fussy?

Or have they fewer needs?

Or is it because having possession of the purse strings they are more apt to have filled their needs.

Well, I'll leave that to my men readers to answer, and proceed to my original theme, which is to make a few suggestions as to the sort of masculine gifts which might be acceptable—or perhaps "might not offend" is the strongest I dare put it.

Please don't think these ideas are evolved at random from a feminine mind. They are culled from discussion of the subject with all the men I could persuade to take the matter seriously.

In the first place there are about a half dozen articles which, by virtue of being named by all the men consulted, deserve to head the list.

These are—

Gloves—white gloves, everyday gloves, preferably of castor or dogskin, and fur-lined gloves, if your purse is that large. If you don't know the proper size you can have recourse to the "glove certificate."

Handkerchiefs—these, according to the consensus of masculine opinion, are an absolutely safe gift, because there is seldom a person who has too many, and also because it would be rather difficult to get a handkerchief that would be objectionable even to the most finicky masculine taste. A handkerchief in the corner is considered a great addition even by the most fastidious disciples of severity. A half dozen nice handkerchiefs thus embroidered are a gift which would doubtless be most acceptable to father, brother, cousin or friend.

Books were a third generally favored article. That men who shudder at the thought of allowing anyone to pick out a single tie for them are willing and ready to accept as a gift a whole box of socks with all the possibilities of varied colored horrors which such a gift involves, is another problem in masculine psychology to me, but according to the persons I have interviewed, it is a fact.

Books are another general favorite. Either present day novels or standard works will be welcomed. If the man for whom you are selecting the gift has a fondness for study, postage stamps, hunting, etc.—you can hardly please him more than by looking up the newest book on his subject and presenting it to him. He will probably be both touched by your thoughtfulness and delighted by the gift itself.

A year's subscription to some good magazine is another gift that can hardly fail to please the most finicky man. Provided of course you use some discrimination in the selection of the magazine. And with the extraordinary "magazine bargains" that are being offered nowadays, even a short purse might afford to give two or three magazines.

These are first favorites—gifts that please almost all men—gifts that had the unanimous approval of all the men whose views I obtained on this much discussed subject.

And now as my space has been used up, suppose I tell you some of the also-rans tomorrow.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Li, common things, each day's events.

That with the better begin and end.

Our pleasures and our discomforts.

Are rounds by which we may ascend.

Stews and Stewing.

A cheap cut of meat for stewing may be made most palatable by careful cooking. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth to remove any bits of bone, then cut in small pieces and pour over them boiling water to cover. If the meat is now allowed to boil it will become tough and tasteless, but by allowing to simmer slowly for several hours it will be tender and good flavor.

English Stew.—Take one and one-half pounds of mutton cut from the forequarter. Cut up in inch cubes and place in a stew-pan with a turnip and an onion sliced. Cover with water and cook slowly for three hours. Season with salt and pepper, thicken the gravy with flour and serve with boiled potatoes.

An Irish stew is similar with the addition of carrot and celery to the dish.

Meats and Their Accompaniments.

Serve horseshoe steak with roast beef.

Apple sauce with roast pork.

Tomato or mushroom sauce with roast veal.

Current jelly with roast mutton.

Mint sauce with roast lamb.

Cranberry sauce with roast turkey.

Oyster sauce with boiled turkey.

Gooseberry sauce with fresh mackerel.

Spiced sauce with roast goose.

Spiced grape jelly with venison.

Sliced oranges with French dressing with roast duck.

Bread sauce with mutton.

When meats are brought from the market they should be removed at once from the wrapping paper and put on plates in a cold place.

Poor man's turkey is pork chops seasoned with salt, pepper and sage, then roll in crumbs and bake, with sliced potatoes 45 minutes.

Jambalaya.

Cut remnants of cold fowl in small bits, add a small slice of ham, likewise chopped, toss in a hot pan with a little butter until slightly brown, then add a cup of rice and a pint of broth. Cover closely and simmer until the rice is tender.

Nellie Maxwell.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

By ROSE TERRELL.

If you possess a fire place, then the spirit of Christmas may safely fold her wings beside your hearth. Like the heart to the body is the fireplace to the house. Have your grates massed about it and be sure to light the room with candles on Christmas eve. See that the fire is bright and glowing, and then "call the neighbors in." No happier memories can be treasured than the gatherings about the cheery Christmas fire in the home of a friend. Before bedtime let the children come in and have part of the fun. Suit it to their understanding and help to "hang the stockings with care." The guests at such a ceremony should be children married couples and houseless dwellers in rooms. They will miss the best of Christmas if they do not have the opportunity to share the joy of a child in this happy time. A chafing dish lunch of oysters with tomato crackers, will brighten the season for some lonely hearts. Though essentially a home festival, the love of the Divine Babe must keep our hearts clean of selfishness. Giving sometimes means "give thyself."

For dolly there are many new ideas. A pair of muscadine made out of an old muscadine kid glove will help to fill the stocking. The back seam should not be sewed till the sole is fitted in. Sew with an over and under with a very short stitch, when sewing leather, and you will avoid much of the gift, for they are pretty observing under our workman.

This same pattern may be used for a young baby or even an older child.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

Dr. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Remove Tan, Pimples, Freckles, and all skin diseases and every blemish on the face and body. It is the best of all skin preparations. It is so harmless as to be used on the face of a child. It is so effective as to be used on the face of a woman. It is so cheap as to be used on the face of a poor man. It is so good as to be used on the face of a king.

SUNNY MONDAY

Your don't have to boil the clothes when you use Sunny Monday laundry soap. Hard water, soft water, cold water, hot water—all look alike to Sunny Monday, and it does its work equally well with any one of them.

Sunny Monday is white and contains no rosin, but, instead, a marvelous dirt-starter which saves time, and wear and tear on clothes.

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

In this case the slipper should be lined and be of heavier leather.

A bit of gaily flowered muslin may be made into a kimona with very little work. Measure the dolly from her ankles in front straight over the shoulder and down the back. This will give the length of the pattern. From wrist to wrist will give the width of the sleeves and body, but a little greater width will have to be allowed for the flare of the skirt. The pattern is in one piece and may be quickly sewed up under the arms. The fronts and neck may either be bound with a narrow ribbon or hemmed and braided stitched.

Children and dolls dress alike these days. A small muscadine which is just as charming for older people as for baby. It should be made double and warm for early morning wear.

The small automobile bonnets which are so charming for older people are just as lovely for dolly. The front bit of fur may be used to make the crown of a little cap, or if you have no very short thick fur a bit of velvet will do. The edge of chiffon may be made more fascinating to the small mother if it has tiny ribbon roses placed at intervals or in a cluster at one side. Children love finished gifts and are more critical of skimped work than they are given credit for. They are easy to please and not exacting as to the nature of the raw look which is the bane of the small mother when a thing is dismissed half done as "pretty good enough for that child." If you have not time enough to finish your gift nicely let it go and buy something that will not look like a half-hearted effort to please.

Founded by Ulysses.

Lisbon, the capital of Portugal, sometimes claims to have been founded by Ulysses in the course of his wanderings. But (according to the London Chronicle) there is no doubt that Ulysses is only a fanciful version of Odisseus, the most ancient name of what was probably at first a Phoenician city. When the Romans absorbed and municipialized Odisseus it became Felicitas Julia, but in the hands of the Moslems it slipped back to Lashbuna. Byron's line in "Childe Harold," "What battles does Lisbon first unfold!" gives the Portuguese spelling of the name today.

The Will and Its Application.

An individual's will is like a big piece of strong machinery; the intellect must direct its workings. The biggest muttonhead on earth can have a strong will; the real strength is in knowing how to use it. All of life's experience goes to teach us that very few arguments, quarrels or distressing situations are worth a fight. Instead of following an impulse to gain revenge, it is always more satisfactory and decent to back up and forget.

To Take Off a Tight Ring.

When a ring has become too tight for the finger, as it often happens among growing children, instead of using the old method of filing, take a piece of common twine, insert one end under ring towards the hand, the other end wind closely around the finger until over the joint. Now proceed to wind with the end back of the ring, and if done correctly the tightest ring will come off easily.

LOOKS FORWARD TO SOCIAL SEASON—MISS HELEN TAFT.

Washington, D. C.—Miss Helen Taft from her throne in the White House will command the social situation among the younger leaders throughout the winter months. She has given up her college course in order to enjoy the pleasures of Washington life.

Previously she has been attending college so has been denied any opportunity of really entering into the winter social season. This year however will see the charming and popular daughter of the president, with her youth and vivacity entering into the social reign which her position insures.

BABY'S NATURAL FOOD BEST.

Experiments upon animals have shown that immunity against certain infantile diseases is conveyed in the mother's milk. This suggests the advisability of furnishing the infant its natural food, whenever that is possible, and when it is not, the use of every possible precaution to avoid adding to the burden imposed for extraordinary defense by using inferior milk. Certified milk is preferable to the ordinary. The milk should be as fresh as possible and the bottle should be sterilized before using it. It is no argument against modern methods of infant feeding to say that our grandmothers survived without such precautions. They had other advantages, chiefly in heredity, and better milk, usually.

Every Month the Number of People Who Come to the Chiropractors Increases

Every week hundreds of people are telling their friends what the Chiropractors have done for them. Appendicitis overcome without operations. One boy made well by Chiropractic adjustments. One man who had been operated upon for appendicitis, four years ago, but who had suffered ever since, who had tried several doctors without relief came to us and is made well.

There is hardly a disease known to mankind that cannot be removed by Chiropractic adjustments. It is not necessary to fill yourself with drugs and poisons to be made well. Nature will throw off the disease in the same way that you acquired it, if you will take adjustments. We remove the disease, BY REMOVING THE CAUSE OF THE DISEASE. READ WHAT THIS MAN SAYS OF US. This letter was not asked for. He wanted the facts printed so as to help his fellow beings.

READ WHAT HE HAS TO SAY FOR THE SCIENCE OF CHIROPRACTIC.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: "I am 40 years of age. I suffered 4 years ago with appendicitis and the doctor said that if I would have my appendix removed I would get well. He removed the appendix all right or at least he claims he did, but I learned to my sorrow that I got worse than better, for it left me in such a nervous condition that I would drop down wherever I chanced to be at times and I could not sleep at all or stand still. After suffering for 4 years and trying several other doctors without getting any help, I was prevailed upon by friends to go and try Puddicombe & Puddicombe, the Chiropractors, and now I'm glad I did for after the first adjustment I could sleep all night which I have not done for over 4 years and I have not had a fall for a week and the nervousness is almost gone and I can't help but think that they are going to bring me out all right. I am giving this testimonial not for personal gain for the Chiropractors but to warn others who may be led into the same trap I was. Don't submit to an operation until you have called on the Chiropractors, for they will locate the cause of your trouble in your spine and by removing the cause your disease or trouble will leave you and they will also tell you whether or not they can do any thing for you before they will take your case. I can not find words to express my feeling for the good the Chiropractors have done already for me."

This letter is signed and witnessed but we decline to withhold the name from public print. Anyone wishing to know the name can find out upon application at our office.

RAYMOND PUDDICOMBE

Note illustration No. 15. It shows the second and third lumbar vertebrae slightly subluxated, which causes a pressure on the nerves leading to the appendix. The lack of nerve energy to this part of the body causes appendicitis and by adjusting these vertebrae the condition was made normal, thus removing the cause of the trouble.

Hundreds of cases of appendicitis, many of them so bad that operation was demanded, have all been made well by the Chiropractic adjustments by removing these conditions of spine without an operation. We have never seen a case requiring operation, as the healing will take place by removing the trouble at spine.

Illustration No. 2. A young man who had a bad fall and, subluxated the second cervical of the neck shutting off the nerve forces to the brain and the result was he became violently insane; this was adjusted and the young man became rational again. The Chiropractors find a great many cases like this one where there is a slight subluxation at this same vertebra that causes people to become fanatics on any one subject but if they are not disturbed they will go along for a life time without doing any harm to anyone or any particular good, but if they are disturbed as in the case of Harry Thaw, when he was disturbed by White, actions which antagonized the peripheral end of the nerves filament passing down his neck irritating the muscles of the neck causing a muscular contraction of the neck putting a greater pressure on the main nerve to the brain, causing him to lose control of his mind and leaving him with nothing but murder on his brain. But after his arrest and laying in his cell a few days and being satisfied of the fact that he had gotten his revenge then his mind became cooled off, the irritation of the nerves ceased and the muscles of the neck relaxed and then he became rational again. But he will never be normal until he has this vertebra adjusted. And if this vertebra had been normal nothing would have caused him to murder White.

Illustration No. 3 shows the first cervical vertebra of the neck out of place. This will cause Neuralgia in the head. A woman who had suffered for many years was in this condition. She came to us and we found that the subluxation was pinching the nerves and cutting off the nerve force. Several adjustments set it back in place and the lady was never troubled since with Neuralgia. A great many of these cases come to us. The subluxation is not always in the same place and the neuralgia is in the different parts of the body.

CONSUMPTION AND BRONCHIAL TROUBLE.

Illustration No. 9. Consumption in a young man. The Case 9. Consumption in a young lady. The second and third dorsal vertebrae were found in a lateral subluxated condition, throwing a pressure on the nerves that run to the lungs, causing congestion of the lungs which throw the patient into consumption. By replacing the vertebrae pressing on the nerves leading to the brain and shutting off the nervous energy, chance to restore perfect health. We have had a large per cent of these cases, and all were made well. Consumption is not contagious, as very many people associate with these cases daily, and yet are no more liable to contract this disease than men engaged in other callings.

Bronchitis is started with a cold or catarrhal condition of the head, the discharge therefrom running down the bronchial tubes which irritates the nerves and causing contraction of the muscles which produces a subluxation of the first and second dorsal vertebra. The result is Bronchitis. By replacing these dorsal vertebrae we restore the natural condition and the disease disappears immediately.

There is not a disease known but what a greater per cent of them can be overcome by Chiropractic Adjustment than by any other method.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until recently two years ago was considered incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore require constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cure known on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and full particulars.

THE HEAVENS IN DECEMBER.

By Prof. Eric Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

The occultation of Saturn, December 12th. Mercury attains its farthest distance East of the Sun, December 24th. Jupiter may be seen before sunrise. December 22nd the shortest day.

At this time of the year no one who looks at the evening sky can fail to be struck by the great beauty and brilliancy of the stars with which it is filled. To see them to the best advantage the observer should be careful that he is away from all artificial light, the Bull, and the Twins, so often mentioned in these papers, while above these three shines out the Charloater principally noticed for its very brilliant yellowish star Capella. But several other stars of the group are even more interesting. The remained visible for about four months, and then faded away into a greenish planetary nebula. What ever great excitement caused this new sun suddenly to blaze out from the depths of space, it is certain that the whole wonderful, outburst occurred of the Eastern edge of the ring remained, apparently attached to the Moon's limb and then this also disappeared. The appearance of the planet at the Western edge of the Moon was no less interesting. Perhaps the most striking feature of the whole occultation was the remarkable contrast in color of the two bodies, the planet appearing of a deep green color, when in contact with the silvery white limb of our satellite.

Very unfortunately, the occultation of this month will occur before the Sun has set to observers in the United States, and it must, therefore, be observed in daylight. The possession of a small telescope will, however, save no difficulty in witnessing it. To should first direct his telescope on the faintly shining, nearly full moon, which will be found near the ground, almost due East, about six hours east of the meridian. Looking along its eastern edge the planet will be seen shining at some little distance from the rough edge. The disappearance will begin at a considerable distance east of the edge, as the Moon is four days from full.

As seen from Washington, Saturn will disappear at 3:45, at 3:50 hours 2 minutes P. M., Eastern standard time, and reappear at 4:13 at 3:55 minutes. These times differ greatly, however, for observers in different parts of the country. The observer should examine the positions of the planet and moon at least half an hour earlier than the first of the above times, and estimate how soon the occultation will occur as seen by him, remembering that the moon moves Eastward a distance equal to its own diameter in about one hour.

THE PLANETS.

Saturn remains in Cetus, and is in excellent position for observation throughout the month.

Mercury attains its farthest distance East of the sun on December 24, and sets on this date 1 hour 20 minutes after sunset. At this time it may be detected shining out in the twilight glow very low down in the Southwest. On December 26 at 6 P. M. Mercury passes Uranus, and the latter planet may be found 25 minutes exactly South of the former. But both planets are very much farther below the equator for satisfactory observation.

Venus entered the evening sky on November 25, but is still too near the sun to be seen. The other bright planets are morning stars; the most conspicuous of these is the magnificent Jupiter, which may be seen high up in the East for two or three hours before sunrise.

On December 22 the Sun reaches its lowest position in the heavens, and this is, therefore, the shortest day.

ERIC DOOLITTLE.

PENILESS EXILES SAVE NEARLY MILLION.

Wealthy aristocrat, Paul Cherbak, whose fortune was confiscated when he was driven from St. Petersburg. Leads colony of Russians in America to purchase land and establish "Little Russia." Founda university for day laborers. Thrift preserved by old patriarchal rule. Eight hundred thousand dollars saved from pick and shovel wages.

Los Angeles, Cal.—What promises to be the largest and in many ways the most remarkable communitarian venture in America is being established near Santa Barbara by a band of Molokans, religious exiles from central Russia, who have found a haven in America. Less than a thousand in number, they have saved the almost incredible sum of $800,000, which has been invested in land for the community. This money has been saved from day wages, for the men landed in America practically penniless, were for the most part uneducated, and had their families with them. Some of them have been able to earn more than the current wages paid to pick and shovel men.

Most of the economic and organization work is due to the efforts of Paul Cherbak, a former wealthy aristocrat of St. Petersburg, whose fortune was confiscated when he became a revolutionist sympathizer and was exiled some years ago. Cherbak's friendship for Count Tolstol, whom he regards as the greatest man Russia ever produced, was his undoing; for it was this friendship that led to his being suspected and the ultimate discovery of his revolutionary sentiments.

The saving of nearly a million dollars by less than a hundred poor men and their families seems almost impossible. But the Molokan families are large and the most rigorous economy prevails among them. None of the Molokans smokes or drinks, and the women have conscientious scruples against anything but the plainest garments. The patriarch—usually the grandfather—in each family acts as the banker of his kin, and so the mystery of this wholesale saving becomes a matter of simple arithmetic. Even the women work—in laundries, or at any employment they can obtain—so there are no drones or prodigals in the Molokan colony and no scandal waste is possible.

Paul Cherbak is a sort of "little father" to the Molokan colony. He is a man of remarkable educational attainments in his own language and some time ago undertook the publication of a Russian newspaper in Los Angeles. Ever since his arrival here with his little following he has concerned himself with their education. To further his plans he has conducted what is known as the "Russian University." This informal institution consists of a motley crew of laborers who aspire to an educational training which the circumstances of their hard-working youth had denied them. Most of the Molokans had a rudimentary education—that is, they could read and write and "figure" a little, and possessed a fair substitute for history in their folk lore. Upon this basis Cherbak has built a higher educational structure, carrying their restricted learning into wider fields, and even equipping a library which he maintains for the use of his countrymen.

Cherbak has also fostered the colonization venture and as a result the Molokans own about 67,000 acres fully plied for. A large colony of Molokans has settled in Mexico and is prospering, and they make such good citizens that President Diaz has offered flattering inducements to Cherbak and his following, but the high tariff on agricultural implements brought into Mexico decided them and they will remain in the United States.

The patriarchal family system, slightly extended, will be applied to the government of the community. One man, the wisest by virtue of age, experience and training, will be elected chief and occupy a position similar to those of mayor and judge. This system is already in practice in the local colony in the heart of the city. In spite of the fact that the families crowd into small quarters their sense of propriety is very keen and there has never been a case of bigamy or adultery in the local colony. And there are few offenders of any other kind against either the laws of the land or the rules of the colony. Industry is a great discourager of vice and crime. What few petty offenses are committed by members of the colony are dealt with by the chief, and his judgments or sentences are never questioned. The rare felonies that occur are turned over to the jurisdiction of the city government and the officials are given every possible aid in punishing the perpetrators, even by members of their own families.

"YOU'LL SUCCEED IN JANESVILLE."

Retail Dealers:—The Rating Sheets will be finished in a few days and distributed to all members of this Club who can and will use them. As fast as they are filled and returned to the Club's office, the work of making up the Rating Bureau will be carried through by the Club. That this will be one of the most potent means ever carried through by the retailers of Janesville, will be made evident as soon as it is in working order. The retailers of this city have been the money lenders long enough—it costs money to keep a line stocked as our retailers have—it costs money to conduct a good business. Credit business is good business if the credit accounts are good. This rating bureau will simply be a safe-guard for the retailer—it will let him know about credit customers.

Solve the Gift Problem for One and All

Why Not "Lump" Your Giving this Christmas?

Instead of a separate, short-lived trifle for each member of the family, give one real, permanent gift that every one can enjoy—individually or in common.

You can thus combine a worthy and practical acquisition to your home with an investment paying steady dividends in hours profitably and pleasantly spent.

Such a family gift you can best make by purchasing the piano without a peer—the Inner-Player Piano.

Other Christmases will come and go, but the Inner-Player will remain a testimonial to your generosity as well as a constant source of satisfaction.

Always—whether you are alone or surrounded by your dear ones.

Whether your wish is to be entertained or soothed—morning, afternoon or midnight, the hands of a master are instantly ready to do your bidding.

Inner-Player Piano music is even preferable to the playing of a virtuoso because, while equally perfect in technique, it is entirely adaptable to the moods of the performer.
